

Title: Open Project Lead, Mozilla Foundation

The vision of this mentorship program is to connect open leaders and increase collaboration and contributorship on open projects in our network. Open Project Leads will play a vital role building a community of contributors on their projects.

Description

An Open Project Lead is a Mozilla community member who is running or starting an open project. Over the course of this program, they will:

- complete and provide feedback on the draft version of Open Leadership Training Series which explores best practices around project setup and communication, tools for collaboration, community building, and events and convenings
- receive ongoing 1:1 project help from Mozilla staff and mentors
- have access to a community of mentors, technologists and more
- run a session at MozFest as practical experience mentoring and engaging community on their project

Expectations

1. Attend the weekly Office Hours (1h) together with the entire cohort going through this program
2. Meet with your assigned mentor (30min) every two weeks
3. Complete weekly assignments from the Open Leadership Training Series, facilitating new contributors on your project (1-2h)
4. Attend MozFest (Oct 28-30, London UK) and run a session

Duration

12 weeks

late August 2016 - early November 2016

Time & Commitment

This program will require you to add 1-2 meetings a week to your schedule and complete assignments around your open project.

Estimated time: 2-3h/week for 12 weeks + MozFest